DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 2, 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ahn et al. in view of Voliva et al.

Ahn et al. discloses an electrostatically atomizing device 60 comprising: a capillary carrier having a liquid collecting end 24 and a discharge end 20 opposite the liquid end, a first electrode associated with the discharge end 20 and supply by a voltage source 40, a second electrode 62 opposite the discharge end, a voltage source 40/66, a partition or baffle 10 for separating the condensation compartment (outside partition 10) and discharge compartment (inside partition 10), a fan 70, and an air duct 10 (see figure 1). Ahn does not teach a steam supply. However, Voliva et al. discloses a steam supply by air stream 22 to a liquid collecting tower 24, wherein the steam is condensed into liquid by cool air flowing through bed 30 (see Voliva's column 3, lines 48+ and figure 1). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have provided the atomizer of Ahn et al. with a steam supply and condensation of the liquid as suggested by Voliva et al. Doing so would provide a way to remove pollution (Voliva's column 3, lines 56+)

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 3 and 4 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 11/13/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 2, 5-7 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
